WHAT IS A READING EXAM?

Reading Exams are customarily composed of a text chosen by the examiner and assigned to the student to read with the object of discussing the reading in English.

The examinee should be asked to translate a selection from the text after a discussion of the text with the examiner. If the discussion on the text matter and the translation go well the instructor is required to fill out this form and return it to the Advising Office in C-252 so that the fulfillment of the Auxiliary Language Requirement may be noted in the Graduate Student's file.

Professors may choose to administer an exam in the fashion they are most accustomed to in their own department.
